

TeacherLib

TeacherLib is a service that provides teachers with an anonymous salary reporting tool with the intention of bringing greater compensation transparency from the employer.

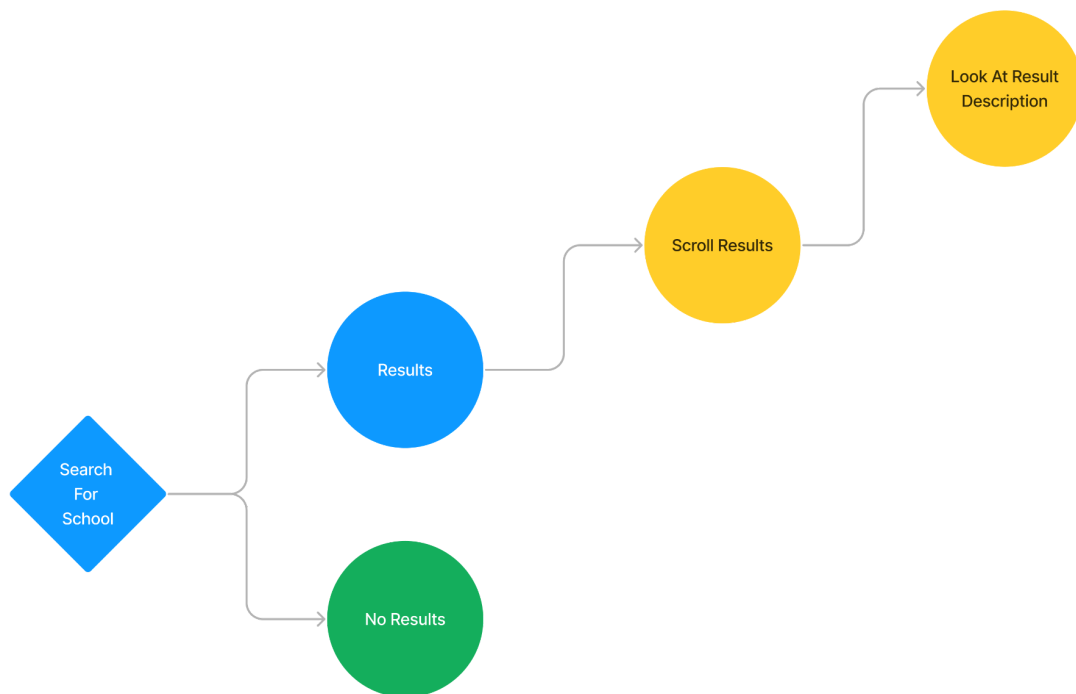

Teachers that are users of Indeed and Levels.fyi don't have a tool built just for them and due to that, don't have the service oriented around their profession. We intend to provide them with that by categorizing each reported salary by school district which will greatly ease the process of finding a good school to work for since it would give some insights into the classroom budget. We want to make sure that teachers enjoy where they work since that is a start for positive classroom environments!
